

For providing a device for serving search/report to viewers responding to an inquiry from the viewers, about information relating to EPGs of the BS digital broadcasting and contents of the data broadcasting services, all channels of the EPGs information of the BS digital broadcasting and the content information of the data broadcasting are received, so as to establish a data base thereof, and at the same time a key-word search data base is also established, thereby supplying a EPG service and a search service, etc., responding to a request for information supply from the viewer.